

BACK(BONE) TO THE FUTURE

Bioarchaeological Perspectives on Climate Change and Climate Crisis

2ND DECEMBER & 3RD DECEMBER | 14:00–19:00 (CET) @ ZOOM

For more information please visit: <https://www.dainst.blog/hub>
Contact: BioarchClimateConference@dainst.de | Twitter: #BioarchClimateConference

KEYNOTE LECTURES

GWEN ROBBINS SCHUG
Appalachian State University /
University of North Carolina

Bioarchaeology at the Nexus of Past and Present Climate Change

CHOONGWON JEONG
Seoul National University

Understanding the Origins of Tibetans and their Altitude Adaptations from a Genetic Perspective

RYAN HARROD
Garrett College / University of Alaska Anchorage

Bioarchaeology of Climate Change and Violence: Ethical Considerations in 2021

PROGRAMME – THURSDAY, 2ND DECEMBER 2021

Opening Session and Keynote Lecture by Gwen Robbins Schug

Session 1 Threatened Bioarchives: Climate Change and (Bio)Cultural Heritage

with Albert Zink (Institute for Mummy Studies, Eurac Research), Adam Boethius (Lund University), and Dione da Rocha Bandeira (University of Joinville Region / Archaeological Museum Sambaqui)

Session 2 From Climate Riders to Climate Refugees: Climate Change and Human Evolution

with Richard Potts (Smithsonian National Museum of Natural History), Michael Petraglia (Max Planck Institute for the Science of Human History), and Louisa Loveluck (The Washington Post)

PROGRAMME – FRIDAY, 3RD DECEMBER 2021

Keynote Lecture by Choongwon Jeong

Session 3 Under the Weather: Climate Change and Human Health

with Aida R. Barbera (CELAT Research Center, Université Laval), Karl J. Reinhard (Pathoecology Laboratory, University of Nebraska-Lincoln), Morgana Camacho (Escola Nacional de Saúde Pública Sergio Arouca, Fundação Oswaldo Cruz), Sharon DeWitte (University of South Carolina), and Hanns-Christian Gunga (Charité – University Medicine Berlin)

Session 4 Rising Temperatures and Rising Tensions? Climate Change and Violence

with Mark Allen (California State Polytechnic University), Rebecca Redfern (Museum of London), and Kira Vinke (Center for Climate and Foreign Policy, German Council on Foreign Relations)

Keynote Lecture by Ryan Harrod and Closing Session

GROUND CHECK 2021

organised by the Division of Natural Sciences – German Archaeological Institute